

THE TUNING BOX CONSOLE

Welcome aboard Maxchip 🙌

In the following you will find everything you need for your new tuning box.

The Tuningbox console is only there to get updates or to change the performance without the app. You can install the Tuningbox directly and do not have to connect it in advance.

We would like to introduce you to the Tuningbox console. Hereby you can access the vehicle-specific installation instructions, among other things. If, contrary to our expectations, a problem occurs with the tuning box, you also have the option of contacting our technical customer service directly via the console. Just open a ticket and our technicians will help you with your problem.

Our technicians are then directly familiar with your engine via a sensor protocol and can see exactly whether it is working and whether anything can still be changed in the programme.

This data is very individual from engine to engine and can therefore be tailored exactly to your vehicle until the programme or performance works properly. In most cases, this happens quite quickly.

Once a ticket has been opened with us, the return period is extended by 3 weeks from that day and you no longer have to worry about your return period expiring.

Our technicians are then directly familiar with your engine via a sensor protocol and can see exactly whether it is working and whether anything can still be changed in the programme.

Here you can download the Tuning Box Console.
